DESIGNER BEERS & CHEESE BISCUITS TASTED & RATED

the nearby Domain de la Souffrandière is very much the new kid on the block. The brothers, Jean-Guillaume and Jean-Philippe Bret, are in charge and I am happy to predict that they are set to become the new stars of the region. The wines are impeccably made and the allotted hour for tasting the range from 2002 passed in a trice. If I had to single out one it would be the Pouilly Vinzelles with its intense nose, fruit and great length.
